Hear the faint notes of 'Moonlight Sonata' from across memory lane, with crickets clicking in chorus?

Feel the first rays of the sun filtering through the yesteryears casting light on a time when time barely rustled?

See those dragon flies dancing in your mind's eye as you lay on the grass with Ayn Rand by your side.

Recall those sprawling bungalows with convivial gardens that would host many a memorable party?

Well, if you happened by or lived in good old Bangalore, you may remember the vintage years.

To help refresh your memory, we enlisted Bangalore's memory keeper. Who else, but Paul Fernandes? The celebrated cartoonist of the life and times of Bangalore.

The curious illustrations by Paul featured here reminisces the laid-back life and honeyed milieu of the memories from Old Bangalore brought to life yet again in today's modern Bengaluru.

A unique, gracious life you may relive at the Embassy Grove. 'Life in the Grove' is a curated reprise of the yesteryears with a contemporary take.

Embassy Grove is a more than a mere address, it is a community for kindred souls with a finer appreciation of the good life.

Villaments in the CBD. For the privileged few.

Bangalore lives in the CBD

History, heritage and the quintessential Bangalore lifestyle reside in the young, pulsing heart of Old Bangalore. A sanctum for the soul where art, culture and entertainment come together to create an atmosphere which is vibrant and alive. A well-established community where full-grown trees and a truly privileged few share roots.

The illustration by Paul alongside recalls the charm of the Indiranagar 100ft road - Old Airport Road confluence, where nostalgia lingers over the effervescence of the high street. Embassy Grove, set in the erstwhile Rustam Bagh, is in the center of it all. A haven of sophistication and calm, with life's finer things and happening experiences just around the carefully manicured corner.

Space revisits time

Spread over sprawling grounds, the 'bungalows' of yesteryear never scrimped on space. Light, fresh air and good cheer filled the expansive spaces that would host extended families and family heirlooms. A grand piano struck an easy note in the living area, and there would still be enough room for genteel folk who desired to waltz on a winter night.

'Life in the Grove' is a contemporary take on the gracious life. The space and luxury of 'villa' living with the modernity and convenience of apartment living in one unique fusion christened 'villaments'. These curated, exquisitely designed villaments at Embassy Grove offer a secured private and exceptional living experience.

Luxury is reflected in the thoughtfulness of small details and expansive spaces. Indeed, space forms the backdrop to bespoke experiential options at Embassy Grove. Ultra-spacious duplex and triplex villaments offer exclusive indoor and outdoor living, complete with a private garden and a private pool with a sundeck.

Rooted in memories

The erstwhile 'bungalows' stood on their own manicured grounds, accented with luxuriant gardens and trees. This atmospheric, welcoming venue would serve artfully and equally as a private eden and a happening party space that hosted many a memorable bar-b-q party.

Borrowing a leaf from nostalgia, your villament at the Embassy Grove comes with its own expansive garden. A tranquil, inspiring refuge to spend quiet times sipping coffee, laze under a mellow sun or explore 50 shades of green.

The verdure allows the little one to acquaint themselves with the birds and the bees, chase butterflies and dreams, indulge their tiny green thumbs and imbibe sustainability lessons.
