Just as ICONIC... as a city's pride

Every city, area and even people have symbols through which they can represent themselves visually, which we all know, are called icons. Agra's icon is the Taj Mahal, Delhi's icon is the Red Fort, Paris has the Eiffel Tower and our very own Pune takes pride in the Shanivar Wada.

All these icons are every city's pride.

What if Talegaon had an icon?
An icon of its own?

Yashwant Nagar – The city focus

Living in a city which is constantly growing and evolving may sound tough, but not when you own a home in the center of city. Yashwant Nagar is probably the most happening locale in Talegaon with easy commute options right under your palms. Close proximity from Talegaon Railway Station and the old Mumbai-Pune bypass makes Yashwant Nagar the perfect locale for owning a home.

What if the home you owned was an icon in itself?

Just as ICONIC... as the icon himself

As Aikonic is an icon of Talegaon, the project has a symbol of its own – Nana Patekar, who is a complete package just like the scheme – artistic, innovative and an ICON in the true sense. His versatility ranges through a long spectrum as he's done varied roles. From theatre to cinema he's been in the limelight handling fame, prosperity and stardom like no other.

Aikonic is “just as iconic... as the icon himself”

Scenic Ambience

Like a home is your peripheral surrounding as an individual, a home needs a good circumference as well to blossom in the true sense. Having a good scenic ambience around the home would make you relaxed, at ease and take your day-to-day worries away when you would sit in the balcony besides your love, just gazing.

Why go anywhere,
when Aikonic has a scenic ambience
too!
